

Technology that fits the way you work

High transaction volumes. Disconnected legacy systems. Complex business processes. These are the challenges our customers face every day, not to mention expectations to reduce costs, stay on top of operational risks, monitor compliance and keep up with regulatory changes. Sound familiar?

Achieving those goals means bringing innovation into your operations without increasing risk and have technology fit the way you work, rather than you working around it.

SS&C Chorus' integrated intelligent automation platform combines intelligent workflow management and AI-powered document automation, leverages machine learning, robotic process automation (RPA) and natural language processing (NLP) technologies in a unified solution suite that enables you to:
